Key Responsibilities

Teaching and Curriculum Development

- Teach undergraduate and postgraduate courses related to at least two of the following areas:
    - Social entrepreneurship
    - Innovation
    - New venture creation
    - Product and/or service development
    - Marketing for small businesses
    - Business and society
    - Sustainable business and management
- Design and deliver project-based, experiential, and challenge-based learning experiences.
- Supervise student capstone projects, independent studies, and community-engaged initiatives.

Research and Scholarly Activities

- Conduct high-quality research in social entrepreneurship or related areas.
- Publish in reputable peer-reviewed journals and contribute to international conferences.
- Seek external research funding and collaborative research opportunities.
- Contribute to the School's research profile and strategic priorities.

Academic Service

- Build partnerships with relevant stakeholders to maximize the social impact of the School.

- Organize or coordinate professional or academic events (e.g., workshops, competitions, speaker series, or similar).
- Support knowledge exchange and impact-driven initiatives.

Required Qualifications

Essential

- PhD with significant experience in social entrepreneurship or related fields.
- Experience in teaching at the university level.
- Evidence of industry projects or research and scholarly activities relevant to the position.
- Strong communication and facilitation skills.
- Ability to work effectively in interdisciplinary and multicultural environments.
- Excellent English language proficiency.

Preferred Qualifications

- Experience working with (social) entrepreneurs, business development, supporting new venture creation and/or management.
- Experience leading social innovation or community development projects.
- International teaching, research, or industry experience.
- Track record of securing research grants or industry-funded projects.
